By affixing CE Marking, and signing the EU Declaration of Conformity, the manufacturer, on his responsibility, declares that the product conforms to all applicable Union Legislative requirements, and that the appropriate conformity assessment procedures have been successfully completed. This declaration of conformity is issued under the sole responsibility of the manufacturer. The CE marking shall be affixed to the product visibly, legibly and indelibly in accordance with Annex III.

The Technical file (TCF) should be drawn up for each representative type of the series in question by the manufacturer or his authorised representative. The technical file (TCF) must demonstrate that the product complies with the requirements of the mentioned Directives above. Before placing machinery on the market and/or putting it into service, the manufacturer or his authorised representative shall ensure that the technical file (TCF) is available.

The technical documentation and the EU Declaration of Conformity must be kept for ten years from the date of placing the product on the market, unless the legislation provides for any other duration. The EU declaration of conformity must be translated into the language or languages required by the Member State, in which the product is placed or made available on the market. This is the responsibility of the manufacturer or the authorised representative established within the Union. For imported products, the importer must take the responsibility for the DoC.
